Incorporating Risk Management into Your HR Policy

-  Chicago, IL
-  May 18th & 19th, 2017
-  8:30 AM to 4:30 PM

Ronald L. Adler

President, Laurdan Associates Inc.

Mr. Ronald L. Adler, president of Laurdan Associates, Inc. has 42 years of HR consulting experience and has served as a consulting expert on work force, workplace, and HR management issues for The Wall Street Journal, HRMagazine, and other publications and newspapers across the country. Mr. Adler's research findings have been used by the Federal Reserve Board, the EEOC, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB), insurers, and international organizations.

Overview :

HR audits are designed to help your organization focus its attention on its human resource management practices, policies, procedures, processes, and outcomes by providing you with a structured and systematic series of questions about key compliance, risk management, internal auditing, and human resource management issues. As a process, HR audits are designed to help your organization identify potential and actual problem areas, help assess the effectiveness of current HR management activities, help assess weaknesses in HR internal control processes, and help assess human capital strategic and compliance related risks. HR audits should additionally provide suggestions for corrective action.

Importantly, HR audits should consider human capital related risks and opportunities from an enterprise risk management (ERM)
